Wood Decking

Affordability and longevity are two notable characteristics of a wood deck, especially when it's pressure-treated Southern Yellow Pine is the most common. For homeowners that want the most natural looking choice, cedar is the best choice. Compared to the other two popular materials, wood is the most inexpensive. Additionally, wood decks can be stained or painted in a wide variety of shades and colors, for low-cost customization.

Composite Decking

Composite decking is a synthetic and environmentally friendly product that is made from recycled materials. Key brands include Trex, Azek and TimberTech, all of which come in an extensive range of colors and textures – and all of which been designed to last a long time without warping, rotting, weathering, splintering or blistering. Oh yes – they resist stains, mold, mildew and scratches too! Composite decks are relatively low-maintenance (just clean with a hose and a little bit of soap) and never require a new stain or paint job. We can help you select the best brand of composite materials, based on your needs and budget.

Deck Replacement

ProDecks can design & build custom decks from scratch, or we can replace an existing deck to keep the design in sync with your home. ▶

Here are some telltale signs that your deck could need to be renovated:

- The middle of the deck has begun sagging and is uneven.
- The railings surrounding the deck or on the stairs are weak or loose.
- Nails or screws will not remain securely fastened.
- Rot is beginning to edge its way around the frame.
- Deck boards are rotting or “springy” when walked on.

QUALITY CRAFTSMANSHIP VALUE

Better Materials = Better Quality.

Wood or wood-like composites? Wood or cable railings? Paint, seal, or resurface? And what colors would be an attractive match for your house?

While one decking material or another may be best suited for your budget or taste, you can rely on ProDecks to help you choose the right decking material for beauty, low-maintenance and longevity.

PROUD TO SERVE HOMEOWNERS & CONTRACTORS

As a general contractor, ProDecks is my deck builder of choice for decks, gazebos, patios, hot tub and pool enclosures, etc. They can follow our plans to the letter, and I can always count on their doing craftsman-quality work – without ever going over-budget. Equally important, they have the capability to do big jobs too – like a new housing or condo development. You can count on the ProDecks people to do the job – and in my opinion, it's always worth the extra peace of mind.
